Summary

(8)

The target appears to be a major object of significance to history. It is basically rounded, slick, metallic, and reflective. It has a need to be ground by a base or some form of tie-down. — Its nature is floating or airy. There seemed to be an historical importance. Colors present were silver, blue, black, black, and some red. The temperature seemed cool. I had a sense of it being very interesting and unusual. Lastly an energy of cooping around like a figure 8.

Post Session Observation

These sessions have been most difficult to have a sense of "signal line".

I have no idea!      3 out of 10
